

EUROPEAN GOVERNMENTS

United Kingdom, Russia, and Germany

United Kingdom Predictions:

They have a parliamentary democracy!

Shoulder Partner Qs:

- a. Who is their leader?
- b. How is the leader elected?
- c. Do They have kings and queens?

UNITED KINGDOM

Power Division: Unitary- central government has all of the power

Citizen Participation: Democracy- citizens have a say

Type of Democracy: Parliamentary

Leadership: Prime Minister- appointed by parliament

UNITED KINGDOM

Lawmaking body:

Parliament

```
graph TD; Parliament --> House_of_Commons; Parliament --> House_of_Lords; style House_of_Commons fill:#ff0000,stroke:#333,stroke-width:2px;
```

House of Commons

House of Lords

PARLIAMENT

PRIME MINISTER

David Cameron

Shoulder Partner Qs

How is he selected?

What kind of democracy is this?

MONARCHS AND FIGURE HEADS

Mrs. Bender

Prince William

JUST LIKE A FAIRY TALE

Russia Predictions:

They have a presidential democracy!

Shoulder Partner Qs:

- a. Who is their leader?
- b. How is the leader elected?
- c. Do They have kings and queens?

RUSSIA

Power Division: Federal- power shared between local and central

Citizen Participation: Democracy- citizens have a say

Type of Democracy: Presidential

Leadership: President and Prime Minister

The president runs the country

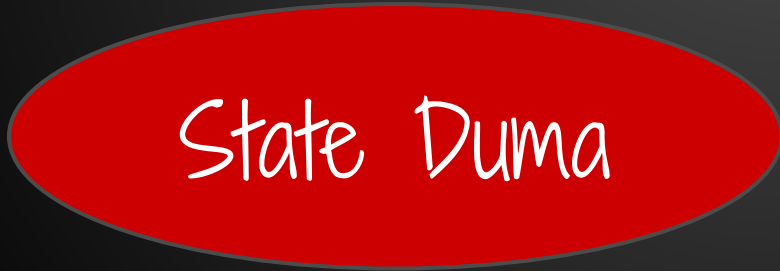

Russia

Lawmaking body:

Legislature

State Duma

Federation Council

RUSSIA'S PRESIDENT

Vladimir Putin

Shoulder Partner Qs

How is he selected?

What kind of democracy is this?

Germany Predictions:

They have a parliamentary democracy!

Shoulder Partner Qs:

- a. Who is their leader?
- b. How is the leader elected?
- c. Do They have kings and queens?

GERMANY

Power Division: Federal- power shared between local and central

Citizen Participation: Democracy- citizens have a say

Type of Democracy: Parliamentary

Leadership: Chancellor who is appointed

GERMANY

Lawmaking body:

Parliament

Bundestag

Bundesrat

GERMANY'S CHANCELLOR

Angela Merkel

Shoulder Partner Qs

- How is she selected?
- What kind of democracy is this?

